Boylan Development Manager Elected to Triangle's US Green Building Council

(Raleigh, N.C.)— Boylan Companies, a local leading organization providing a seamless range of comprehensive real estate services, is proud to announce that its Development Manager, Ben Yorker, has been elected to the Triangle Chapter of the US Green Building Council (USGBC). His election to the Board of Directors comes as Boylan Development, along with Boylan Companies, strives to continue its green building efforts in its projects throughout the Triangle.

“We are very excited that a member of Boylan Companies has been chosen to serve in this capacity,” said Mr. Field, CEO of Boylan Companies. “Without a doubt, Ben will help to spur greater interest and participation from the real estate development and brokerage industry in matters relating to sustainable development practices and policy.”

Yorker boasts over ten years of professional real estate experience throughout the Southeast and Mid-Atlantic regions. To date, he has developed multi-family, mixed-used and commercial projects with a combined construction value of over $300M. As development manager of Boylan Development Company, Yorker directs staff and consultants in the analysis, design and construction for multi-family and mixed-use projects as well as spearheads multiple green initiatives for the company. He is also an active member of the Urban Land Institute.

“As an industry professional, serving on the Triangle’s Chapter of the US Green Building Council affords me the opportunity to launch a collaborate effort between developers and policy-makers to craft new construction policies that will promote sustainable building practices through a careful balance of incentive and mandate,” said Ben Yorker, development manager of Boylan Companies’ development team. “It is a both a pleasure and honor to serve on this board.”

The USGBC North Carolina Triangle Chapter envisions a healthy future through the promotion and application of sustainable strategies to the built environment. The chapter is comprised of architects, engineers, interior, designers, landscape architects, government officials, developers, business owners, product manufacturers, individuals and students. The North Carolina Triangle Chapter aims to be the regional point of contact to promote construction practices and buildings that are environmentally responsible, profitable and healthy places to live and work.
